Royal Commission Training - Broken Hill 2015

This learning session will assist carers of children and young people who have been affected in any way by institutional child sexual abuse and complex trauma.

Participants will benefit in understanding:

- Defining complex trauma stemming from child sexual abuse
- Identifying symptoms of a sexual abuse history (or current sexual abuse) that may be exhibited in children and young people in out of home care
- The potential short and long term effects of sexual abuse and complex trauma on healthy child development and subsequent adult emotional health and behaviour
- Ways in which to respond to a child or young person who discloses sexual abuse
- How you may support children, young people and adults who may have had a history of child sexual abuse and complex trauma
- Knowledge of appropriate services and supports within your community
- Skills on how to develop self – care when supporting a child or young person who has experienced childhood sexual abuse and complex trauma

Suitable Audience: Carers and Supporters

Carers, case managers and program managers and peers who support adults and children/ young people in out-of-home care.
